1968

FOREWORD

Excitement, change, success—rarely has any student body realized these qualities better than the classes of '67-'68. Enthusiasm characterized the approach of students to a year filled with discovery. A student body unprecedented in size or fervor enjoyed a broader course selection than ever before. A variety of student-planned activities, including slum day, slave day, class trips and plays, dances, a zip code directory sale, highlighted the year. Sports teams carried off top honors as dedicated fans cheered from the sidelines. School spirit soared with the twin triumphs of a suburban co-championship in football and an undefeated cross-country team.

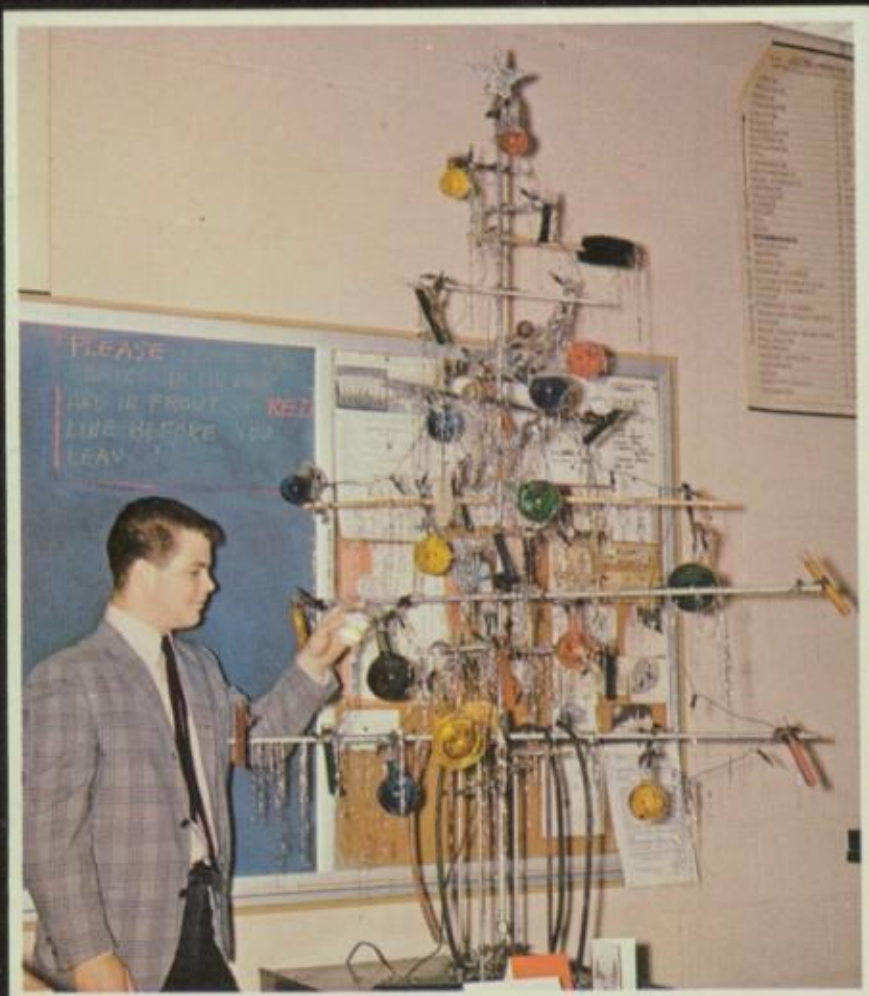

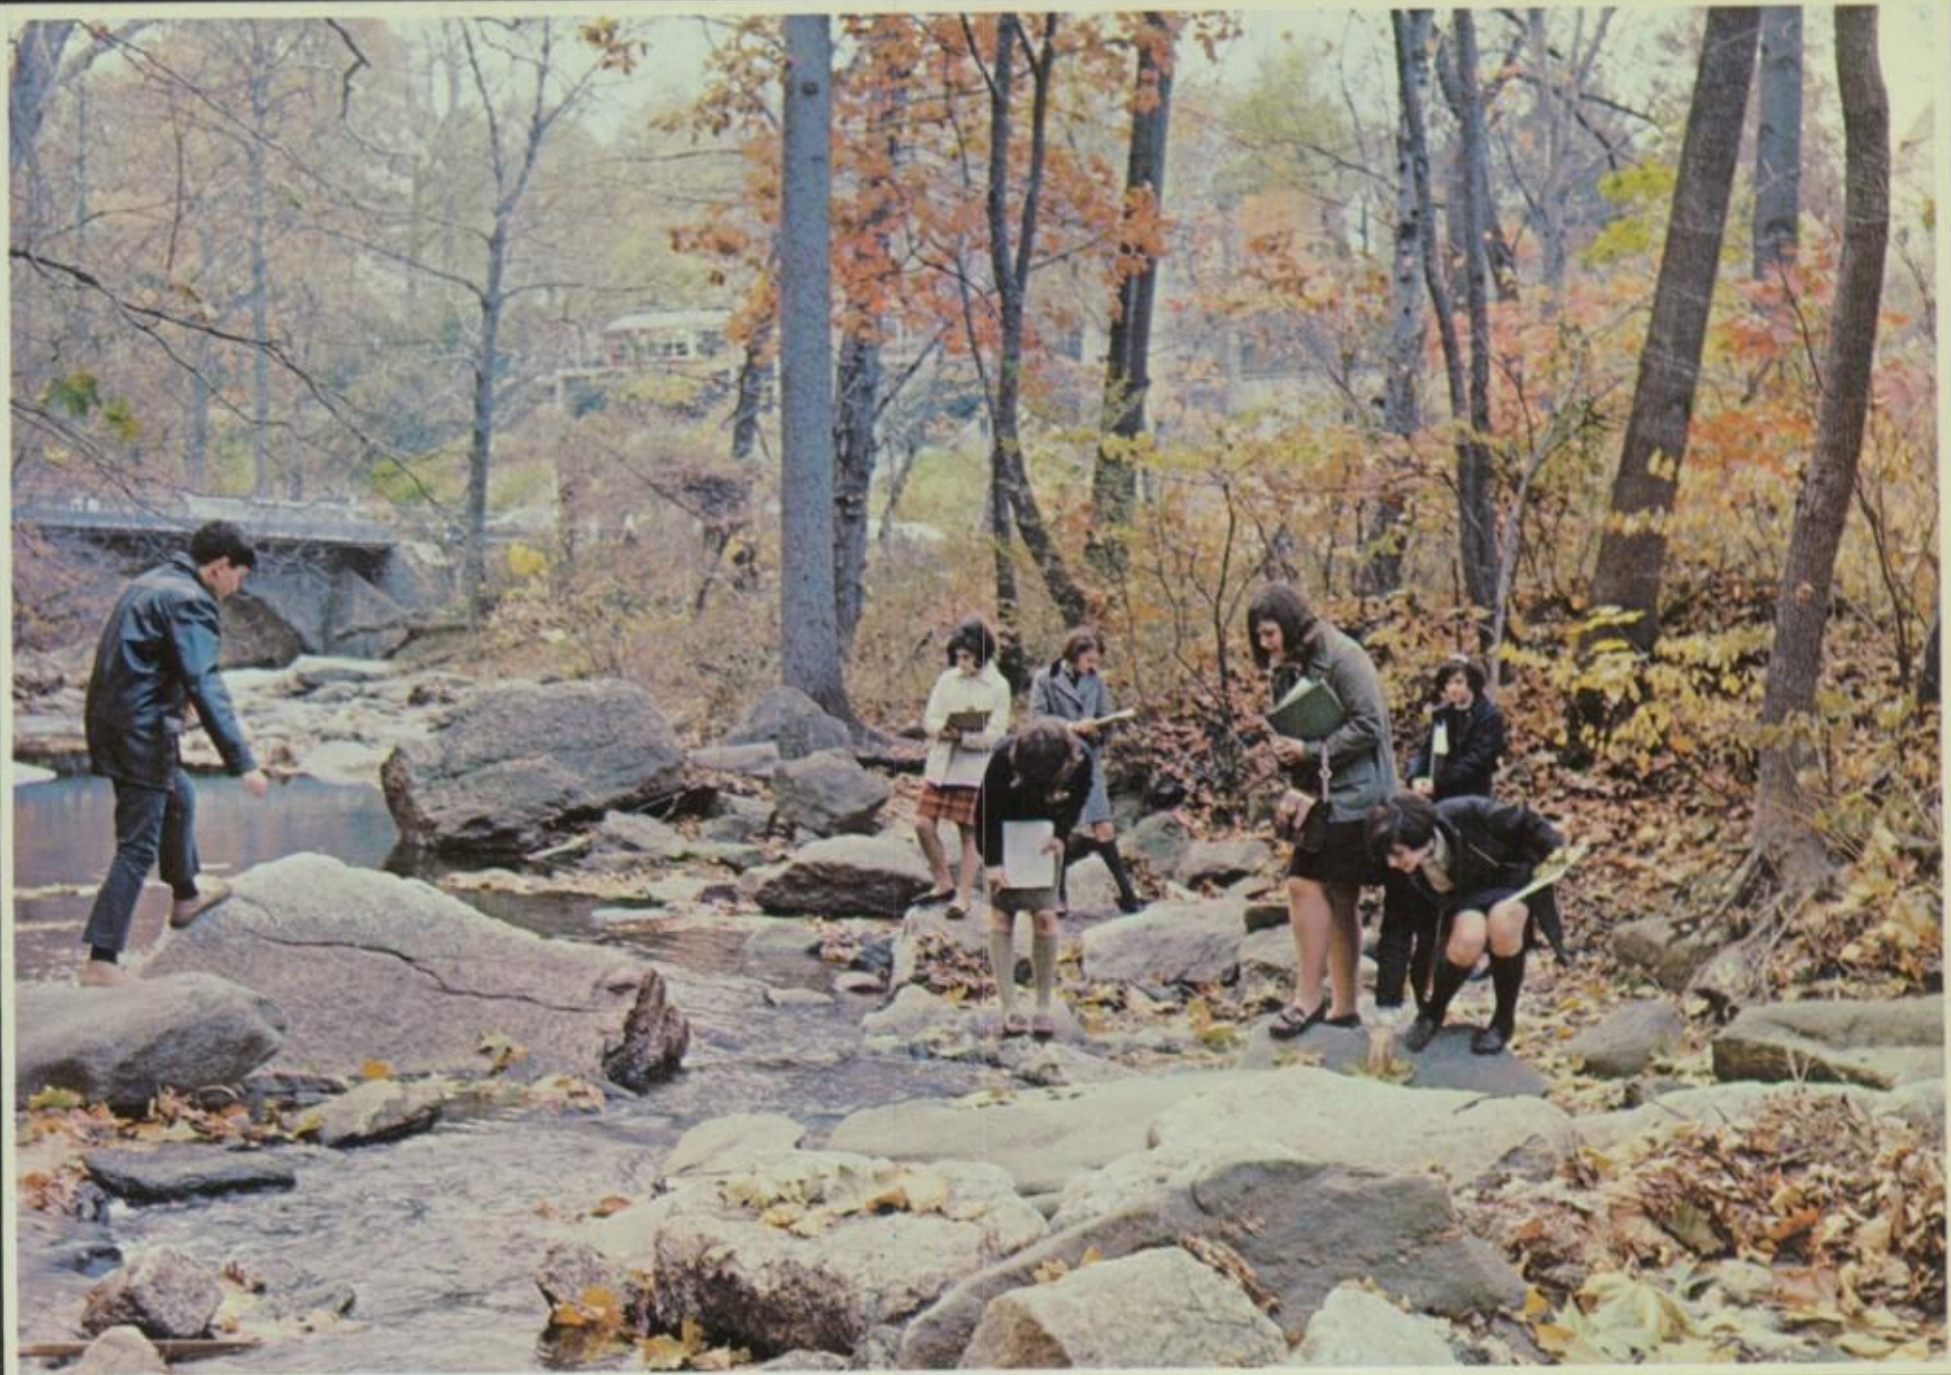

A year of transition and excitement, '67-'68 prepared students for the full and active lives of responsible and capable adults.

ALMA MATER

Haverford High, thy praise we'll ever sing,
Long shall thy fame in florid accents ring.
Pinioned in splendor may our banners soar,
Crimson and Gold triumphant evermore.

Soon, all too soon, our school-day joys are gone.
Then, with the radiance of the breaking dawn,
Ascends our love in loyalty to thee,
And mem'ry holds us close eternally.

Students arise, shout now with wild acclaim,
Join in the song to Alma Mater's name.
Let not one foe among her ranks be known,
Fealty and love will ever bring us home.

ORGANIZATION

CURRICULUM

With a student body consisting of over two thousand pupils, efficient operation of the school was an important element in the tasks of administrators this year. Their effective organizing and coordinating of faculty and student activities laid the foundation for a highly successful year. While Haverford's able administrators endeavored to give students more and better educational opportunities, the faculty showed interest and understanding in guiding pupils in their educational pursuits.

SCHOOL BOARD

With the selection of Mr. Vincent Kling and Associates as architects and the site of more than fifty acres of land in Haverford for the middle school, the Board of School Directors has implemented another proposal suggested by Englehardt, Englehardt, and Leggett, school advisors. President Leo P. Moran and the nine member board have already seen the completion of extra classrooms, a corrective gymnasium, and administrative facilities as additions to the present junior high school.

Although the board devoted much effort to the maintenance and equipping of all school district facilities, much attention in the next two years will be devoted to the new middle school which Mr. Kling and Associates will build to accommodate anywhere from 1800 to 2400 pupils enrolled in grades six through eight.

One of the key factors involved in the planning of this school complex was the recommendations of the faculty advisory committee composed of selected teachers of the township. The booklet composed by the Committee represent the attempt of the faculty in Haverford Township to plan a school around the curricula, an avant-garde idea which has been initiated in few other areas.

SUPERINTENDENTS

Because of the great range of his responsibility, the school district superintendent could be considered a jack-of-all trades. Filling this office for Haverford Township this year was Dr. Harry R. Henly, aided by Mr. Ray T. Mentzer. Dr. Henly, completing his second year in Haverford Township, felt that "the superintendent is charged with the responsibility of developing and maintaining the best possible educational opportunities for the students in his school district." Dr. Henly and his many efficient assistants have supervised many advances in education in the past year. This year the senior high saw such innovations as the installation of a computer terminal, a change over in chemistry courses, a wider art program, and the establishment of as many as ten class periods a day instead of the traditional seven. Also, courses such as Drama and Computer Concepts were offered for the first time. Elsewhere in the township, classes for the emotionally handicapped and pupils who hadn't attained basic skills were established.

ASSISTANTS TO THE SUPERINTENDENT

ADMINISTRATION

Academic and social training of future citizens comprised the major task of the Administration this year. In both areas Dr. Hall emphasized increased student involvement. Offering privileges in proportion to the amount of responsibility Fords could bear, he stressed better student-administration relations.

Mr. Daniel Bresnahan, one of two assistant principals new to Haverford this year, should receive his doctorate at the end of this school year. He described a high school's purpose: "to give each individual student those learning experiences which would develop him to the maximum." In his work here he hopes to accomplish this end.

Mr. Melvin Drukin, the other new assistant principal, joined the administration staff in February. Resigning the position of principal of Swarthmore junior-senior high school, Mr. Drukin replaced former assistant principal Mr. Ronald White.

The uniqueness about Mr. James Shiplett's job as disciplinarian was the fact that he was not only in charge of approximately one thousand "young gentlemen," but was also an administrative assistant and head athletic director.

Counselors Offered Guiding Light

GUIDANCE

Security is having a guidance counselor who, in addition to being friendly, is patient, efficient, and available to help make decisions in planning for the future. During the past year Haverford's guidance counselors repeatedly demonstrated these qualities, beginning with their help in effecting the numerous schedule changes during the first week of school. Counselors afforded students the opportunity to speak with college representatives and presented programs with speakers from both business schools and industry. They also planned and organized a Career Day, on which students investigated those fields of work which interested them.

The department also presented various tests indicating natural aptitudes and interests to the pupils of each grade. Prior to individual conferences, counselors explained the junior tests in a general parents' night.

Enclosed in the reserved section of the library this year were approximately eighty new filmstrips provided by the Guidance Department. In addition to excellent information on colleges and vocational training, the films and their accompanying records offered tips on studying and advice concerning moral values.

ENGLISH

If students have kept their eyes and ears open this year, they've traveled far—seen, felt, and explored the wonders of the world through English.

Tenth graders explored much of the world. They traveled to France where they met the notorious Cyrano de Bergerac and sailed with Ulysses in the Odyssey. Poetry knew no barriers as students read the works of Robert Browning one day and perhaps those of e. e. cummings the next.

Juniors discovered the wonders of America, sailing the Mississippi with Mark Twain and experiencing life during World War II in A Separate Peace. Books read as class projects also helped students to attain a broader view of the contemporary scene.

England was the destination of the senior class, traveling back in time with the Anglo-Saxon epic Beowulf and meeting one of England's most distinguished citizens, Shakespeare, while reading his famous tragedy Macbeth. Gulliver's Travels provided a variety of characters, ranging from the Brobdingnagian giants to the six inch high Lilliputians.

Whether venturing around the world, through America, or to England, all students made the customary side trips into grammar, vocabulary, and writing.

HISTORY

"Everyone clear your desks for a quiz." Throughout the school year students seemed to hear this phrase everywhere they went, but nowhere more often than in history class. With all the volumes of facts exchanged between students and teachers (J. Edgar Hoover sleeps with a night light!), Fords had to keep on their toes every minute for fear of missing something.

While sophomores delved into the ancient empires of the world, juniors strove to understand their own country's heritage. Courses in the senior year were large in number and interesting in content, thus offering students a chance to pursue their separate interests. Courses such as world geography, European studies, Latin American history, and Asian studies gave seniors insight into the often little-known cultures of today. A special history class, senior seminar, provided an opportunity to investigate and discuss contemporary, international, and domestic problems. The course included independent research, active participation in discussions, and the experience of group leadership.

MATHEMATICS

Whether delving into the world of subtrahends and quotients or transcendental functions and definite integrals, students worked long hours this year preparing for futures in business and college.

For students planning careers in nursing or medical technology, the department once again offered nursing math. The mathematical skills essential for trading, banking, and insurance were presented in the form of business math, while general math courses taught skills for practical applications. Students choosing the college preparatory plan sampled courses ranging from algebra to calculus and analytic geometry.

Parents found themselves totally baffled, unable to help their sons and daughters with their "new math" this year as students were initiated into the world of computer concepts. Meeting twice a week for one semester, the classes included lessons on the workings of a computer and the operation of a terminal.

With a wide variety of opportunities in the mathematical field, students became better equipped for any career they pursue.

LANGUAGE

This year the Language Department introduced hundreds of aspiring, young linguists to the tongue and culture of exotic lands. While Latin III and IV classes explored Virgil's Aeneid, written almost 2,000 years ago, first and second year pupils worked toward mastering the essentials of the language. Second year classes completed the year with Livy and Julius Caesar.

Whether translating Goethe's Die Novelle or thumbing through the Frankfurter Allgemeine, German IV students found the past year both interesting and fun. First and second year students enjoyed a fruitful year discovering German grammar, while third year classes delved into Schiller's Wilhelm Tell.

Although first and second year French and Spanish classes employed the A-LM method, a teaching technique stressing speaking and listening comprehension, literature played a major role in the lives of advanced students this year. Third year French students enjoyed short novels such as La Symphonie Pastorale and Le Petit Prince, while fourth year scholars studied a survey of great French writers. Third year Spanish students spent their year reading magazine articles, short stories, and the novel El Sombrero de Tres Picos.

SCIENCE

"Ahhh," sighed the science teachers as they looked over the new electronic balance, capable of rapid weight determination. "Ohhh!" cried the science teachers, while watching some of the exciting new filmstrips on the earth, moon and stars.

"Oh!Oh!" said the science teachers when Mr. Snyder announced his marriage. These are just a few of the exciting events which started off the 1967 season for the science department.

The curriculum included six periods of chemistry in order to compete nationally with other schools, and Chemistry II, which hasn't been given in 3 years. Mr. Bennett began an aeronautics course, generating a great deal of enthusiasm. Mr. Dyke and Mr. Renshaw each taught one section of the special BSCS Biology program which has gained national popularity. Mr. Shumuckler and Mr. Clemmer received a research grant for finding derivatives of 2-4 Dinitro bensin sulfonyl chloride and have worked on it during this past year. Last, but not least, a new face was seen this year. It was that of Mr. Graboyes who came to us to teach chemistry after teaching nine years in John Bartram High School.

BUSINESS

Creation of a shorthand laboratory caused much commotion in the Business Department this year. The lab was similar to the one in the Language Department and provided more individualized instruction. Stressing skill and accuracy, shorthand was taught much like a foreign language. Advanced classes provided opportunities for good job placement.

Some students were selected to act as salesmen at Weinberg's of Manoa during a store-wide sales. Speakers from department and grocery stores spoke to classes about various aspects of their jobs.

Teachers called on the help of students in Office Practice to mimeograph tests and work in the main office. Each girl in the department visited the junior high for two weeks to work on switch boards and IBM accounting machines.

In Bookkeeping classes records were kept on business transactions. Typing classes gave aspiring secretaries a chance to exercise their skills.

Introduction to Business Law delved into the complexities of banks, car and insurance services, communication and transportation. Field trips to insurance companies and banks presented business in operation.

FINE ARTS

Stimulating was the word for the programs offered by Haverford's Fine Arts Department. Students explored the world without taking a step outside of the ever-growing library, now containing over 14,000 volumes. Introduced this year was a new way to study—through microfilm. Newspapers accompanying every series of films kept students up to date on current events.

Pupils wishing to continue their art education for a third year participated in a class developed for them, in which stress was placed on individual pursuits and experimental attitudes.

Echoing through the halls were the voices of the A Cappella Choir, Madrigales, and Havertones, under the direction of Mr. Paul Fink. While the choir and Madrigales concentrated on hymns and classical music, the Havertones entertained their audiences with routines and show tunes. Under the direction of John Trainer, the band spurred the student body on during football season and performed a variety of music for them in assemblies. Directed by Mr. Merritt Martin, the orchestra added a special touch to the Christmas assembly when it performed parts of the Nutcracker Suite instead of the traditional carols.

PRACTICAL ARTS

Boys in cooking class? It's not so unusual. By taking Cooking as a minor, some shrewd Haverford boys have insured themselves of well planned and prepared meals once they get away from Mother's cooking.

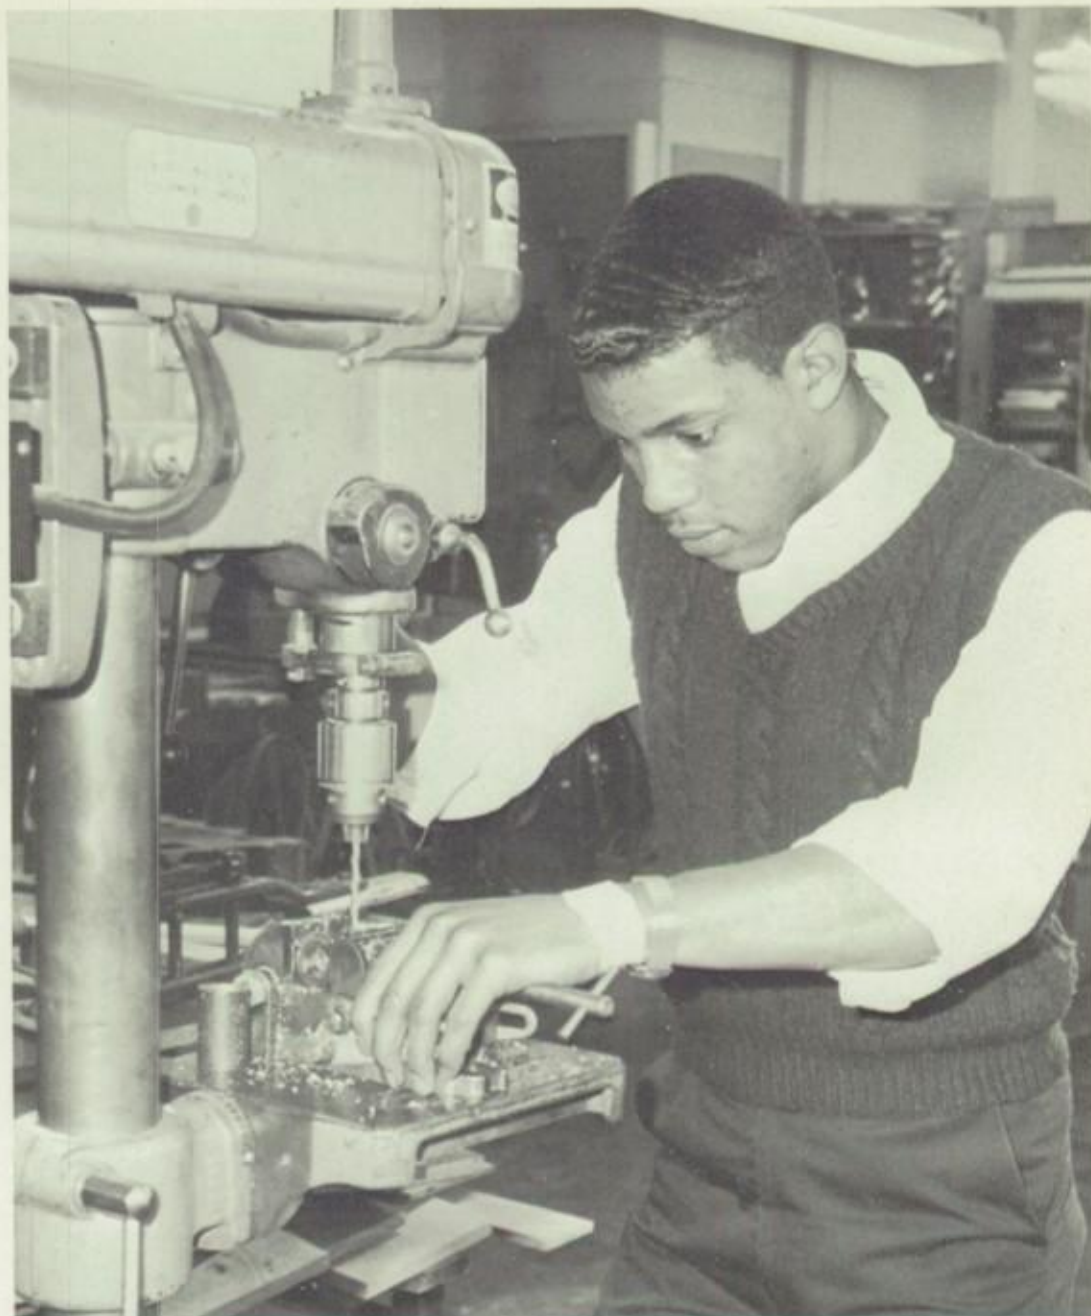

Girls interested in taking a course in Home Economics as a minor had a choice of either Clothing or Foods. In addition to the usual sewing and cooking courses, the Home Ec. major studied both child care and interior design.

Industrial Arts students emerging from shop carried objects of wood, metal, and plastic which they had made themselves. Putting their creativity to further use, these skilled boys continued their practice of providing the scenery for the school dramatic productions.

Crafts classes delved into a wide variety of artistic projects, including mat weaving and the modeling of pottery.

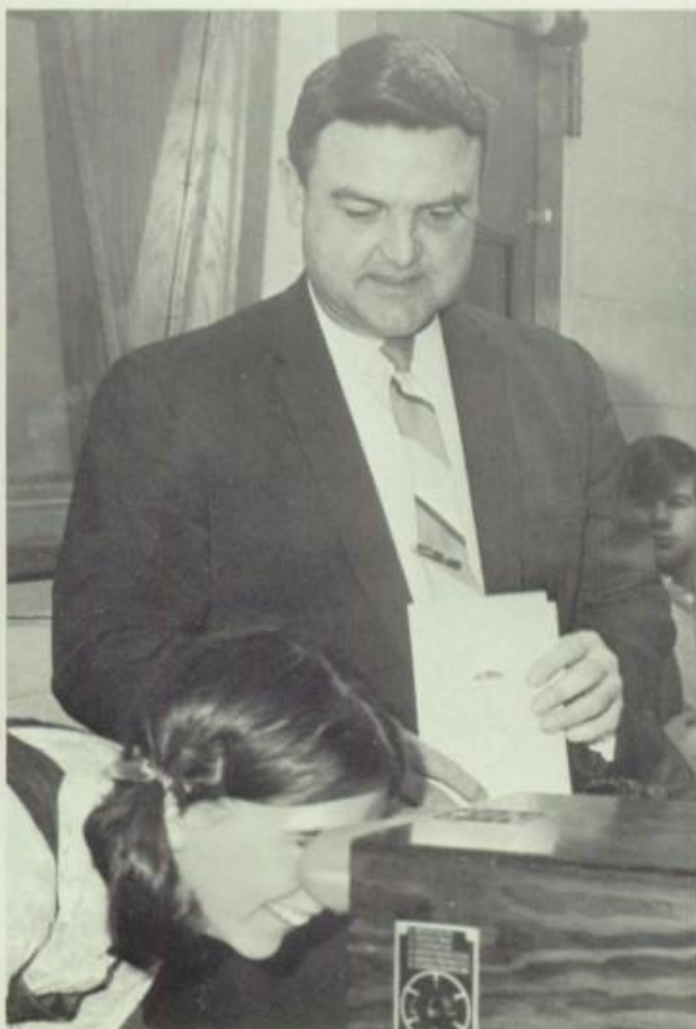

A new course introduced last year, Photography Instruction, was again offered to interested students, who learned to develop, enlarge, and print photographs. They also received advice in the composition of pictures.

Designed to improve their manual dexterity, practical arts courses prepared students for future employment and hobbies.

Cathy Reynolds checks depth perception as Mr. Rozelle observes.

Oblivious to his surroundings, Joe Chester works intently on planer.

Supported in "L" position, Steven Marshall and spotters follow instructions.

With a little help, seniors invert in varying degrees.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Whether punting, bunting, dribbling, or tumbling, students found the 1967-68 physical education program both broad and fast-moving.

Seasoned sports were carried on throughout the year, peppered with little extras such as apparatus, weekly exercises, and the (in) famous Marine physical fitness tests for boys. With the autumn came football and soccer season for the boys, while their feminine counterparts exhibited their hockey skills. Speedball proved to be an interesting, new experience for many. During the winter months students enjoyed volleyball, basketball, and apparatus; male athletes also knocked heads in wrestling. With the return of warmer weather, students once more headed outdoors for softball, lacrosse, baseball, and track. Badminton and table tennis occupied the girls on less favorable days.

There was entertainment for all—not only for those participating, but also for onlooking classmates. Regardless of the thrills, skills, scrapes, and scratches, the Physical Education Department stressed the enjoyment of activities rather than proficiency in skills.

INFIRMARY

Traffic in and out of the infirmary this year averaged about thirty-five ailing students per day. If pupils had remembered to "button up their overcoats," the traffic problem would have been lessened considerably.

Under the leadership of Mrs. Katherine B. Yerger, who also coordinated the medical and dental services of the school district, the medical department again provided efficient and invaluable services to all students. For those students who had prolonged absences, the department approved their return to school. In addition to coping with such problems as swallowed contacts and broken legs, the department provided complete physical exams and hearing tests for all juniors. Eye examinations were also given to each student. Complicating the department's busy schedule were the complete medical check-ups for all athletes.

The staff again furnished appointments with therapists for students having problems with speech, hearing, or vision. They also arranged special help for Fords with emotional or physical handicaps.

Checking blood pressure consumes much of Dr. Robert Hall's time during junior physicals.

Smooth-Running School Maintained By An Efficient Staff

Ravenous students barrage Mrs. Nicom with money during rush hour.

Cleanliness and efficiency keynoted the cafeteria and maintenance departments this year. With more students than ever to cook for and clean up after, the staffs of both departments found 1967-68 a hectic year.

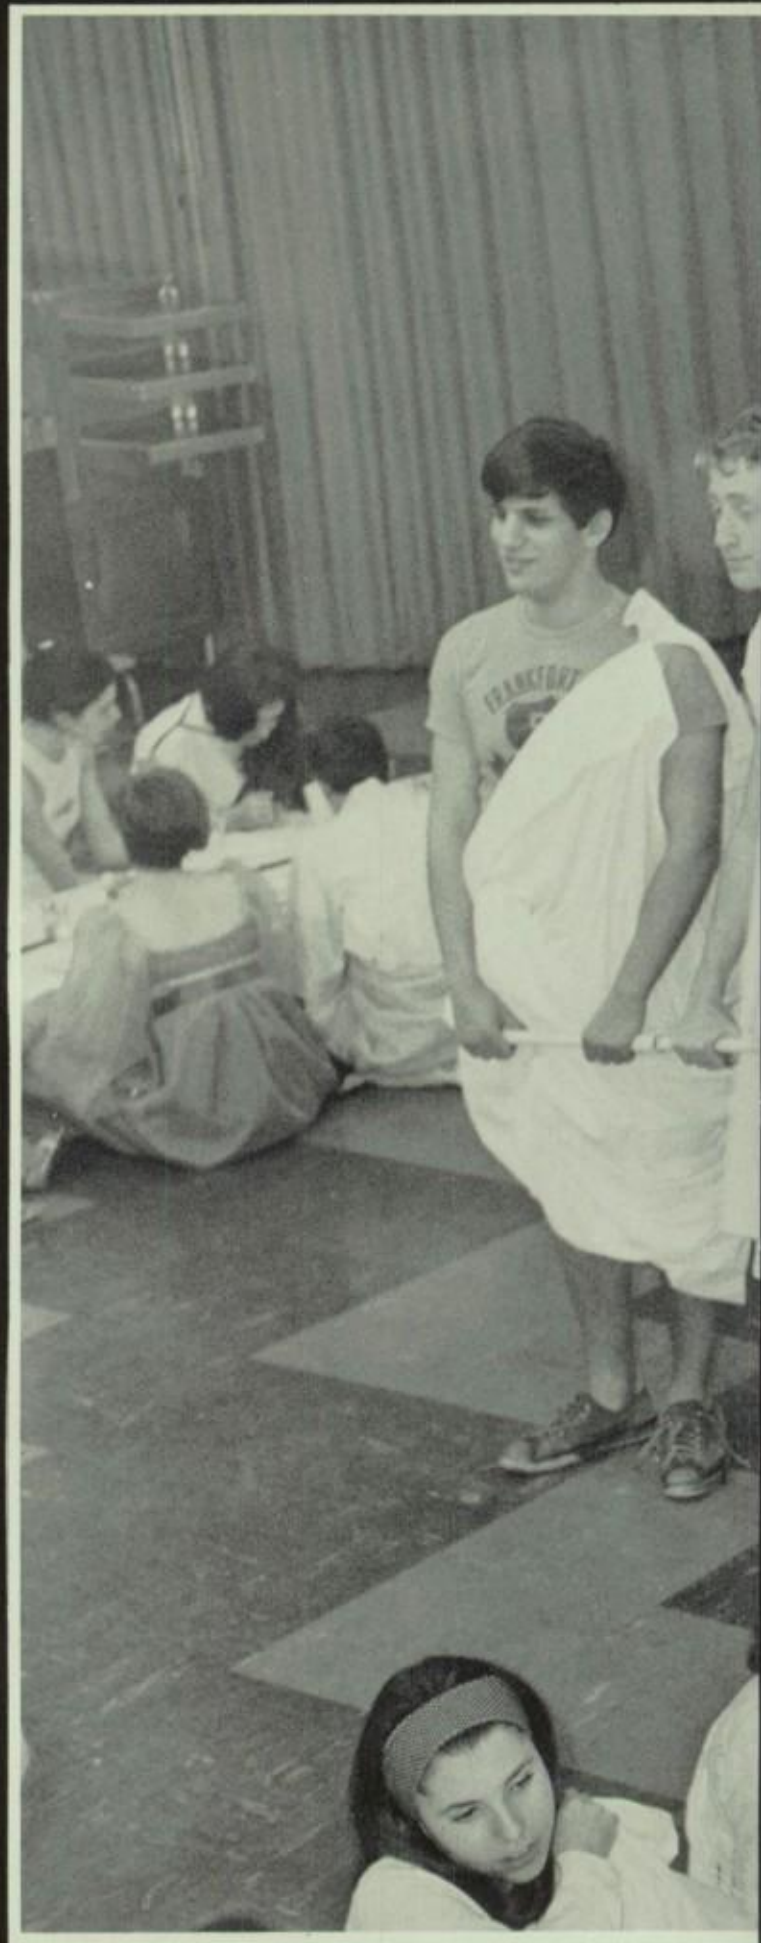

Mrs. Mary Nicom and her thirteen associates labored long hours providing platters and side dishes for hungry students. Twenty or more selections were prepared daily in the cafeteria kitchen, which houses modern and speedy equipment. In fact, every half-hour, four times a day, over five hundred people enjoyed the sandwiches, platters, and desserts provided by the cafeteria crew.

The custodial staff, under the supervision of Mr. William Patton, kept the halls tidier than ever before. Armed with a new, automatic floor scrubber, they performed their necessary duties with skill. Along with their task of maintaining the school's huge generators and boilers, the janitors also journeyed countless times through corridors and classrooms, making a clean sweep of dropped papers, broken pencils, and accumulated dust. Students owed much to those who kept the entire school dirt-free and germ-proof.

ACTIVITIES

Whether wearing togas or tunics, collecting for the heart fund or selling coconut Easter eggs, students enjoyed this year a variety of activities unequalled in diversity or number in the history of Haverford. The 2:15 bell, which signalled the end of the academic day, ushered in for many Fords a greater learning experience than many books could provide. Developing athletic skills and the ability to use imagination and creativity, students equipped themselves for the future while enjoying individual interests.

Nettleton Highlighted Student Council Dance

Speaking into mike at S.C. meeting, Sue Cozzens enumerates the reasons for supporting a particular proposal.

Under the leadership of President Leo Marshall, this year's Student Council was concerned not only with students at Haverford, but also with soldiers in Viet Nam, and children in a nearby orphanage.

Performing as a communications link between students and faculty, the 1967-68 Council strove to represent student ideas and interests as accurately and effectively as possible. With the goal of aiding the community and the public in general, the Council collected donations for battle-bound dittybags, organized a spring-time heart fund drive in the community, and delighted orphans from Media Child Care Center with a Christmas party complete with Santa Claus.

In school-related functions, separate committees successfully prepared a bonfire, homecoming dance, and senior recognition, along with the production of "Something Else" — the Talent Show.

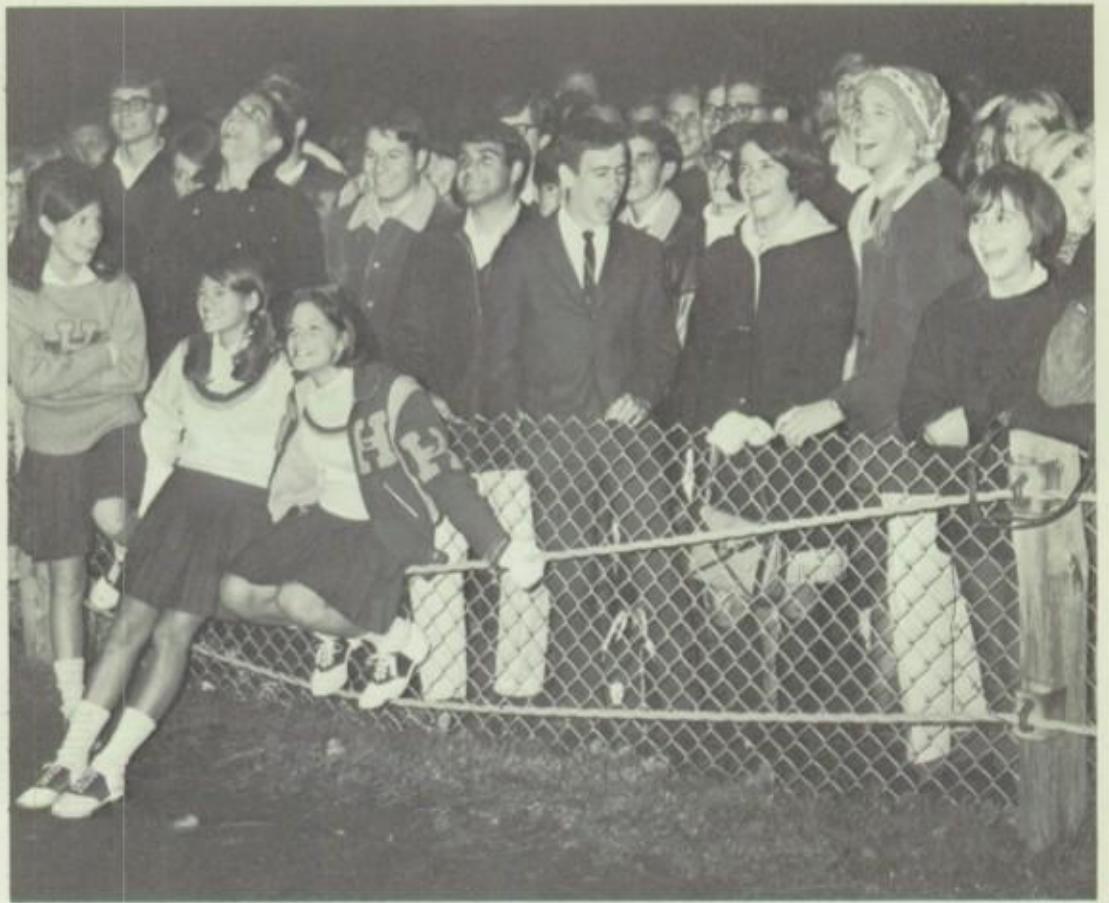

Among the new projects undertaken by the Council were monthly dances sponsored solely by the student government and the Leadership Seminars, workshops in which club presidents discussed problems and exchanged ideas.

Rustling robes, flickering candlelight, and a speech by Dr. John R. Coleman, President of Haverford College, distinguished April 17 as a day of honor and recognition for a number of deserving Fords. Singled out for their outstanding qualities of leadership, scholarship, service and character, newly inducted members of the National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. Marlyn Shrut and Mr. Nicholas B. Sacchetti, were carefully selected from the top fifth and third of the junior and senior classes, respectively, by a committee of teachers, guidance personnel, and administrators. President Jeff Janoski, vice-president Suzanne Kepler, secretary Pam Grant, and treasurer Dave Knopman began the ceremonies with an elaboration on the four qualities necessary for membership. Following the speech by Dr. Coleman, a reception was held for the inductees and their parents in the auditorium. During the year the group also sponsored a Christmas tea for alumni.

Take some film. Add a prom, slum day, talent show, homecoming and graduation. Throw in a few class plays and sports events for good measure. Tack on some captions, some headlines. Now add an industrious staff. What have you got? Why Greystones '68, of course!

This September, 150 Fords devoted themselves to the task of writing, organizing and editing the yearbook. Following the sales handled by the business staff, seven sub-staffs began their various functions in the areas of activity, administration, sports, social, underclassmen, and seniors. An entire year captured in photos, the 232 inlaid pages compiled under the supervision of sponsor Mr. Gerald "Doc" Harter, literary advisor Mrs. Barbara Markowitz, and editor-in-chief Joan Spivak formed an impressive and invaluable leather-bound momento. Despite a dollar price hike due to increased paper and printing costs, the Fords did have a "better idea in '68, and perhaps will have an even better one in '69.

Colorful captions flow from the hands of writers, while others develop interesting layouts.

Who would have thought that a disorderly, narrow, oblong box might be the office of a newspaper which won a first place rating at the forty-fourth annual convention of the Columbia School Press Association? Could the eight yearly issues of the Fordian possibly have emerged from this cluttered closet?

Anyone at all familiar with Haverford recognized the room at a glance. Its bulletin board was crowded with memos and its tables overflowed with the creative efforts of the Fordian staff. Every form and stage that went into the writing of the award-winning paper—rough copy, rewritten copy, finished copy, and typed copy—could be found there.

Editor-in-chief Sue Cozzens, consulting with faculty advisor Mr. John J. Fahey, introduced many new features to the paper this year. "Making the Scene" and the "New View" presented the unknown or the different to interested readers. A new approach to student interviews explored the personalities rather than the backgrounds of class leaders.

Poets Possessed First Place Quality

Andy Toby assists Beth Creighton in keeping contribution chart up to date.

Whether expounding upon belly-buttons or love, this year's Pen and Ink provided an outlet for self-expression and literary talent. Selected poems, short stories, and essays combined with fantastic and fascinating illustrations to produce a bi-annual magazine which the Columbia School Press Association judged as deserving of a first place rating at their annual convention. Under editors-in-chief Anne Simpson and Betsy Cohen and advisors Mr. John Rybnik and Miss Beth Worthington, Pen and Ink, composed entirely of material created by students, broadened its scope with a greater variety of content. Experimenting with different types of prose, the magazine introduced interviews and book and movie reviews this year. Literary pieces were submitted not only by regular staff members, but also by other members of the student body.

Stressing creativity, Pen and Ink provided an excellent opportunity for aspiring artists to demonstrate their ability. The extraordinary illustrations which accented the literary contributions added a definite spark to this year's magazine.

Concentrating on tonal quality, Donna Tecco bows first violin.

Whether performing carols or concertos, the ninety members of this year's orchestra displayed a remarkable combination of both talent and perseverance. Conducted by Mr. Merritt Martin and led by concert-mistress Donna Tecco, the orchestra played at the Pennsylvania Music Educators' Convention in Harrisburg, at a joint concert on the campus at Eastern Baptist College in St. David's, and at Haverford's Music Night on April 19. The group also performed in all school assemblies during the Christmas season and provided string ensembles for the faculty Christmas tea, several banquets, and the annual band mothers' fashion show.

Fifteen orchestra students earned positions in the Southeastern District orchestra at Schwenksville High School. Of these, seven—Donna Tecco, Charles Parker, Pam Langer, Ronald Cantelm, Joyce Nicholson, Brian Phipps, and Christine Teare—were chosen for All State Regional Orchestra at Kutztown State Teachers' College.

From the spirited Bach "Bouree" to the beautiful and very difficult "Ceremony of Carols," the 1967-68 A Capella Choir practiced and performed a wide variety of musical compositions under the guidance of Mr. Paul Fink. This year's chorus performed for the Ardmore Women's Club, several local churches, assembly programs, and at the faculty tea.

The Madrigales, a group consisting of about fifteen selected voices, worked primarily with sixteenth and seventeenth century madrigals, while the Havertones performed a lively routine of show tunes, centered around the theme of "New York, New York."

Many innovations accompanied the year. For the first time in a number of years, Haverford students participated in the Southeastern District Chorus, held at Springfield High School. The six Haverford students who placed among those selected were Paul Mosteller, Amy Karash, Carol Sargent, Betsy Fineberg, Pam Langer, and Rugh Link. Another first for the chorus was the election of officers and subsequent fund-raising activities.

Individual and group hearings augmented daily practice sessions for the band this year. Performing at Marple Newtown, Lower Merion, and Merchantville and Pensauken high schools, the group also provided a brass ensemble to play for pep rallies and special programs and a dance band to perform at class plays and the talent show. Conductor John A. Trainer constantly strove to improve standards with the introduction of band tests and group discussions.

Many Ford musicians auditioned for District Band this year. Rick Henly, Brian Phipps, George Kamajian, David Nestler, Beckie Marshall, Lesley Clark, Rodger Pritchard, Melinda McCandless and Bruce Young all achieved positions in the highly selective group, with Henly, Phipps, and Kamajian enjoying additional honors in their election to Regional Band. Exercising his talents to even greater advantage, Brian Phipps was also selected for the school band of America. As third seat clarinet, he will tour various European countries this summer with the group.

Haverford football fans could not have failed to miss the brightly colored uniforms of the marching band, majorettes, and color guard as they roused fans to cheer the Fords to victory.

The band provided pre-game and half-time delight as they drilled before the eyes of more than a thousand people at each game. Throughout the season, the band, under the direction of Mr. John A. Trainer and drum major Dan Dillman, developed increasingly complicated routines and precision drills.

In the stands, the group complied with requests to play such favorites as "Fever", "Cabaret", and "Hello, Dolly" as well as the ever-popular pep songs.

Leading the band onto the field before every half-time show was the all-girl color guard under the direction of student advisor Ray Benedetto. Captain Fran Murta led the color guard members in their important function of executing precision drills.

Sparked on by the songs provided by the band, the majorettes, led by captain Debbie Dillman, performed fancy twirling routines much to the delight of the football audience.

Competing against teams from twenty other area schools, the Hi-Q team followed up their regional championship of last year with the fine achievement of first place this year. A starting team consisting of co-captains Jeff Janoski & David Nestler, senior Jane Jackson, and junior Donna Kirshbaum, as well as alternate Jon Katz, employed their knowledge in a numerous variety of topics as they answered questions ranging from the plays of Shakespeare to the United States government. The matches resulted in awards of 1000, 500, and 250 dollars by the sponsor Scott Paper Company to the top three teams.

Though individual victories were important, scores were the vital factor in meets since the total score points actually determined the finalists. Haverford qualified for the finals with a total point score of 102, along with Interboro, 107, and Chichester, 87.

The team owed much to their coach Mr. Robert Bennett. Through his guidance at weekly meetings, members analyzed their faults and fortes in previous meets and discussed future opponents. Assignments and other forms of research prepared members for approaching matches.

With a seven week case of laryngitis striking the Voice of Havertown, 1967-68 would have been a memorable year for WHHS even if the station had not increased its staff, expanded and varied its programming, and introduced weekly air checks.

The increase from last year's staff of twenty to the present staff of eighty-five required the expansion of the executive staff, also. Under Program and Assistant Program Directors Marie Reeder and Grant Mazmanian and sponsor Mr. Charles Axarlis, expansion included other aspects of the station. The broadcasting day was extended until 5:30, with two late nights a week. Engineering and announcer supervising programs were started. Programming embraced new dimensions with the addition of bi-weekly seminars, semi-weekly drama workshops, and a weekly quiz show.

Next year WHHS will be offered as a half credit course. Familiarizing students with radio techniques, the announcers' course this year laid the ground work for a more rigorous one for 1968-69.

Roman Banquet Topped Off Classic JCL Year

Under the direction of President Jim Wright and dedicated sponsor Miss Bernice Gilmore, JCL members enjoyed many stimulating and distinctive activities this year. Encouraging an interest in the ancient Greek and Roman civilizations, the club held a Saturnalia festival and Roman banquet. Speakers, the production of Terence's Phormio, and a picnic were also featured during the year. A monthly journal published by the club kept members up to date on such projects as their senior namecard sale and assemblage of Christmas Baskets for needy families in the township.

In an effort to better acquaint students with the French language and culture, the French Club moved ahead with many new plans this year. Exciting programs included a speaker from Bordeaux, France, and a banquet held at a French restaurant. The club also performed a French play, The Doctor in Spite of Himself. New committees were initiated, and a tutoring program was started. Under the supervision of President Joan Spivak and sponsors Miss Susan Radbill and Mr. William McNally, the club enjoyed a highly successful year.

Donald Edelman, the club won second place in the Thanksgiving Day parade with their "tank," presented a skit and sang German carols at Christmas, and journeyed to St. Joseph's College to see a German film. A smorgasboard dinner closed out the year.

Hoping to develop an understanding of Spanish influence on the United States and an interest in the language itself through the study of customs, the Spanish Club provided a variety of stimulating programs for members this year. Enjoying many socials, the club featured a pinata party during the Christmas season. Speakers from Chile and Argentina introduced members to a new and fascinating culture, while the performance of a native dance, the flamenco, included much of the flavor of a colorful civilization. The donation of money raised from dues to "Care" served as the club's project this year.

Homemakers Sponsored Care Drive; Future Teachers Tutored School Pupils

Mayline Crossan receives help from student tutor Helen Kemp.

By providing opportunities in which students could observe and share the work of teachers, the Future Teachers of America club provided its members with helpful experience. Marking papers, tutoring slow learners, and helping with report cards were just a few of the projects in which students participated. Under the direction of president Linda Kerr and sponsors Mr. Schmuckler and Mrs. Shaffer, several visitations were arranged with nearby schools. Highlighting the year was the annual May banquet during which new officers were presented.

Cooking, curtains, clothes, and a care drive—these were four of the major concerns of the Future Homemakers of America Club this year. Under the supervision of president Sara Warren and sponsors Miss Marion Mellinger and Mrs. Katherine Harford, the club presented programs ranging from pie-baking demonstrations to covered dish suppers. Though kept busy with this year's project of sewing curtains for the home economics rooms, members still found time last February to present the Simplicity Fashion Show for girls in the school.

The Future Nurses' Club, under the direction of president Joyce Nicholson and sponsor Mrs. Elise Mayer, worked hard this year to give its members first hand experience in medical work. Members assisted in the infirmary and explored educational and professional opportunities through lectures and several films presented during the year. Speakers included army, missionary, and aerospace nurses, experts in the medical field, and former club officers. A $250 scholarship was presented to a selected member at the end of the year.

Through a series of fascinating lectures, movies, demonstrations and field trips, the Future Scientists of America further cultivated the special interest in science of club members this year. Many of the members undertook individual research projects varying from the breakdown of proteins to indigo carmine experiments. Under the leadership of president Stephen Mershon and sponsors Mr. Jade Snyder and Mr. Joseph Schmuckler, some club members synthesized chemical compounds never before created and had the writeups of five such compounds nationally published.

Devoting themselves to many other worthwhile projects, club members sent food packages to underprivileged families on Thanksgiving, gave underprivileged children toys and a party for Christmas, and visited the Philadelphia General Hospital, where they gave the children a party. They also donated toys to the Media Care Center and supplied carnations for the student body on Valentine's Day.

Promoting cultural exchange and interest in other countries, World Wide Workshop experienced a busy year providing programs for its more than 200 members. For fund raising, candy, mums, and Easter eggs were sold; and for international relations gifts and letters were exchanged between schools in England, Peru, and Germany. Work was liberally mixed with fun—foreign speakers enchanted members with tales of their countries and a banquet, a smorgasboard of international foods, highlighted the year.

Fordettes Competed For Fun

Wednesdays and Wynnewood were synonymous to one female faction of sports minded Fords this year. Meeting at the library-cafeteria entrance of the school one afternoon each week, the Girls Bowling Club, under the direction of Mrs. Helen L. Eddy and Mrs. Muriel McCloskey, bussed members to nearby lanes for a few hours of competitive fun, between the five-girl teams. A final banquet highlighted the girls' year with the awarding of trophies to individuals and teams with outstanding overall scores. All members who bowled regularly throughout the year received miniature bowling pins containing their names and high scores.

Entering the first annual Central League competition, the Girls' Volleyball Team, coached by Mrs. Susan Pass, finished in third place this year. Selected in the early part of March, the twelve-member team met eight different opponents at host school Upper Darby. Invaluable, though unseen, the stage crew again performed their vital role in school functions this year. Dedication and spirited competition characterized the individual and team performances in sports this year. A desire to win pervaded the practice sessions, which, although lacking in glory, enabled athletes to experience the perseverance and personal sacrifice which mold champions. Rivalry was keen, and each team rose to meet the challenge accordingly. The realization of success through competition was the goal of every team at Haverford this year.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Under the leadership of Coach Stan Freedman, the 1967 Haverford football team compiled a 7-2 record and tied for the Central League Championship.

The season began with a 47-0 victory over Springfield. In the next encounter the Fords suffered a two point loss to Penncrest, but rebounded for a 42-7 rout of Radnor. The aerial combinations of Bob Croff and co-captains Barry Henry and John Barlow continued to cover yard after yard in the ensuing battles. The skillful running of Harris Plotnick and Dave Quinn along with the hard blocking of linemen Bob Arnesen, Bob DiPuppo, Craig Basile, Mark Snyder, and Bill Simms combined to produce all the protection the backfield needed.

Racking up victories over Conestoga, Harriton and Plymouth Whitemarsh, the squad triumphed in the all important match with Lower Merion, handing the Aces a 14-0 set-back. After a fairly easy win over Marple Newtown, the first-place Fords met in the traditional homecoming game with Upper Darby. In the mud and wind and rain that persisted through out the morning, the Fords found themselves on the short end of the 10-6 score as the final gun sounded, resulting in Haverford's second straight league co-championship.

JAYVEE FOOTBALL

Under the direction of Coach Steve Juenger, this year's JayVee football team compiled a season record of five wins and four losses. Getting off to a quick start, the team won four out of their first five games.

In the opening game of the season, the Fords met a strong Springfield team with the result of a heart-breaking 6-0 loss. The next four encounters provided wins for the much improved squad. Penncrest was the first victim by a score of 14-6. At Radnor, the JayVee out-classed their opponents by a 20-7 score. Closing out their winning streak, the Fords triumphed over Conestoga 24-19 and Harriton 7-0. In a non-league battle, the team suffered a 13-0 whitewashing at the hands of Plymouth-Whitemarsh. Lower Merion walloped the jayvee squad 28-6; in the closing weeks of the season the Fords beat Marple-Newtown, 20-6, and lost to the Royals of Upper Darby, 20-7.

This year the offense was led by sophomore quarterback Steve Joachim and the strong running of Mike Griffin. Nick Bruno, Bill Woods, Steve Grayboyes, and John Janoski were some of the outstanding starters on the 1967 squad.

Booters Won Eight Shut-Out Victories

SOCCER

Suffering from three tough 1-0 losses in key games, this year's varsity soccer team compiled a 4-3-1 record in league contests. Coach Keyser's squad launched the season with two non-league victories over Germantown Friends and Penn Charter. In their first Central League match, the Fords downed a determined Springfield team, 1-0. Facing the Lower Merion booters at home, the game resulted in a 2-2 tie. However, a mid-season plague of 1-0 losses to Penncrest, Upper Darby, and Harriton prevented the Fords from placing any higher than fourth in the newly formed Central League. Outscoring their foes 16-2 in the last seven games of the 1967 campaign, this year's squad earned an 8-3-1 overall record.

Danny Spencer, leading scorer, and Steve Klingman formed the core of Haverford's team. Both were selected for the Central League All-Star Soccer Team. Deftly defending the goal, Jim Green allowed the enemy only a few scoring goals.

In order to perfect the skills needed to achieve a successful season, each member of this year's team sacrificed many long hours to practice.

CROSS COUNTRY

Under the guidance of Coach William Christman, the 1967 Haverford Cross Country team streaked to an undefeated record in eight dual meets. The season began at Upper Darby where the Fords nearly shut out the home team. By defeating Upper Darby for the fifth consecutive year, the harriers again retained possession of the Miller-Strange trophy. The Fords, opposing the Springfield Cougars, met their toughest competition, but the fast-moving squad again proved victorious.

Led by Dave Sheridan, Rich Heimbecker, Dave Knopman, Bob Mowatt, and Ken Keehn, this year's forces continued to leave their opponents trailing behind them as they out-ran every league foe they faced.

Continuing in Haverford's fine cross country tradition, the Fords ventured to Valley Forge to compete in the league championships. After the last man had crossed the finish line, Haverford won the league crown by 42 points over their closest opposition, Springfield.

The harriers placed third in the Delco Invitational Meet, third again in the District Meet. With this record, the team earned the right to compete in the state championships at Penn State, where the Fords finished tenth in the commonwealth.

HOCKEY

With Co-captains Judy MacLaren and Robyn Talley left as the only veterans of the 1967 varsity hockey team, Miss Eleanor Harrison had to select virtually a new team for this year's battles. Due to bad weather, the first game was postponed until October 12, when the Fordettes faced Radnor in a 1-1 stand-off. At Lower Merion the team played an excellent game both offensively and defensively to a 2-0 score. Although succumbing to Springfield, the champions of the area, the Fordettes rallied, downing Conestoga and Harriton in the following two games. A penalty bully performed in the last half by the Fordette goalie, Becky Marshall, and the opposing center forward topped the fast-moving Harriton game. Haverford's 3-3-1 season was highlighted by a victory over Upper Darby, adding another point to the Cornog-Milne Trophy. Sophomore forwards Gail Kepler (2 goals), Maddy Cotler (2 goals), and senior defensive halfback Ellen Barr (2 goals) provided the scoring punch. With promising underclass prospects from the second team (3-3-1) and seven returning letter winners, Haverford can look forward to an even stronger season in '68.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Led by seniors Dennis Boyle, Jim Green, Tom Kemp and sophomores Bill McIlmoyle, Ray Edelman, and Steve Joachim, the 1967-68 basketball team battled with tremendous enthusiasm throughout the season. Whether executing a fast break, driving for a lay up, or shooting a long jump shot, the Fords, co-captained by Jim Green and Tom Kemp, generated an excitement not experienced in recent years.

Coach Steve Juenger's squad overran Springfield in the league opener, 74-56. The cagers then traveled to Penncrest, where they nearly upset the eventual league champions, 50-54. Victories over Conestoga, 56-47, and Harriton, 63-38, followed a tough loss to Radnor. Haverford suffered two additional losses to league power houses Lower Merion and Upper Darby. Completing the first half, the Fords out-pointed stubborn Marple Newtown, 69-59. The second half of the season resembled the first in respect to wins and losses with the same opponents.

Prospects for next year are optimistic. Ray Edelman, Jay Cousins, Steve Joachim, Bill McIlmoyle, Val Erdmanis, and Harris Plotnick should form a strong nucleus for the varsity.

VARSITY WRESTLING

Under the inspirational guidance of Coach Donald Dyke, the varsity wrestling squad compiled an 8-1-1 overall record. Fine team performances, which carried the squad through a tough schedule, enabled the matmen to finish third in the Central League competition.

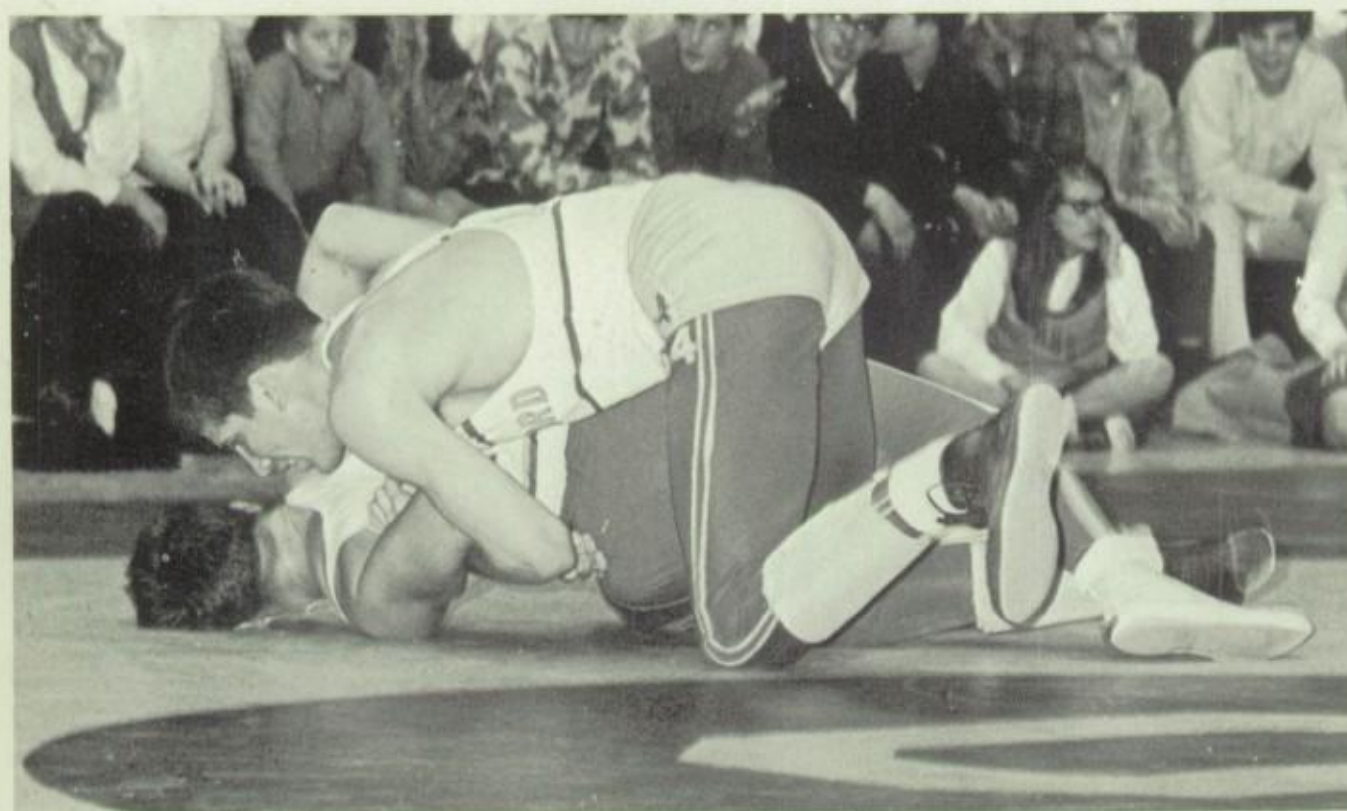

The season began with a resounding victory over Upper Darby, 43-13. Recording five pins against U. D., Haverford established itself as a contender for league honors. In one of the more exciting matches of the year, the Fords rallied to tie league champion Conestoga, 19-19. After suffering a 28-13 loss to Springfield, the varsity concluded their season with five consecutive wins. The grapplers also scored a victory in the Penncrest Christmas Tournament, outpointing their closest opponent by twenty-one points.

Amber, Basile, and Kennett were the leading team point scorers, while Draper completed the duel meet competition undefeated. Of the five Fords qualifying for sectional finals, only Ivan Bell was victorious, taking the regional title in the 112 pound class. He finished fourth in the state.

GIRLS' VARSITY BASKETBALL

Yielding victories to only two of their eight opponents, the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team, as a member of the newly formed Central League, enjoyed a year of vigorous competition. Trouncing Radnor, Lower Merion, and Conestoga in the first three games of the season, the fidgets, captained by senior Kathy Linehan, next defeated Marple Newtown 46-45 on two converted foul shots in the last eleven seconds of the most exciting game of the year. An additional triumph over Upper Darby provided a rousing prelude for the all-important Penncrest game. After a hard fought first half, the cagers found themselves literally fouled up with their best players benched on bumbles. Squeezing past the girls in the fourth quarter 44-41, Penncrest killed a five game winning streak and hopes for an undefeated season. The girls climaxed a triumphant 6-2 season with a 36-34 win over Harriton. With six letterwinners returning next year, coach Miss Patricia Holmes anticipates an exciting '69 season.

BOYS' SWIMMING

Handicapped by a lack of daily practice, the swimming team compiled a 4-7 record under the direction of Coach Bert Lynch. The squad began the dual meet season against league champions Marple Newtown. Though putting forth a fine effort, the Ford swimmers upset bid fell short by only seven points. Not discouraged by two more consecutive losses, Haverford downed Harriton and Upper Darby for the seasons first two triumphs. Relatively close losses to Lower Merion, Marple Newtown, and Abington followed on the Fords' schedule. When the mermen swam against Harriton and Upper Darby again, the once more earned important victories.

While the meet record was less than satisfying, the Fords placed second in the Central League Championships. George Starkweather took both the 100-yard freestyle and the 200-yard freestyle. Larry More was first in the diving competition. More, Starkweather, and Shoemaker qualified for regional competition. But Haverford swimmers attained the greatest moment of glory when Larry More won the state diving title with an amazing 403.17 points. George Starkweather finished fifth in the 100-freestyle and sixth in the 200-free, in the state meet at Bucknell.

GIRLS' SWIMMING

Could it have been the co-ed practices throughout December? Perhaps it was the enthusiastic and talented coaching of Miss Valerie Walchak? Maybe it was a combination of these facts and the extraordinary skill of the 1967-68 girls' swim team? Whatever the secret was, a fast-moving season proved the formula successful. The Fordettes won all but two of their ten meets, overcoming the handicap resulting from the lack of facilities. From a series of exciting meets, the tensest could easily be pinpointed to the first encounter this season with Marple-Newtown, when the Fordettes managed to swim to the surface and win by one point.

Outstanding medley and freestyle relay swimmers Kathy Woerner, Pam Prowell, Ginger Tudor, and Suzanne Houseworth not only copped top honors for HHS, but also set individual school records in their respective specialty strokes. Senior Captain Sis Prowell accomplished an undefeated diving record and a third place standing in the P.I.A.A. District Diving Championship.

VOLLEYBALL

With a deliberate, well-executed offense and an unyielding defense, the 1968 Volleyball team captured the state championship this year. It was the third consecutive state title earned by a Haverford team.

Coach Ted Keyser developed a nearly flawless team which centered around captain Ben Pariser. Each member of this year's squad perfected the skill of setting up and carrying out the "spike" shot. With keen finger-tip control, the Fords defeated one rival after the other in preparation for the district and state meets.

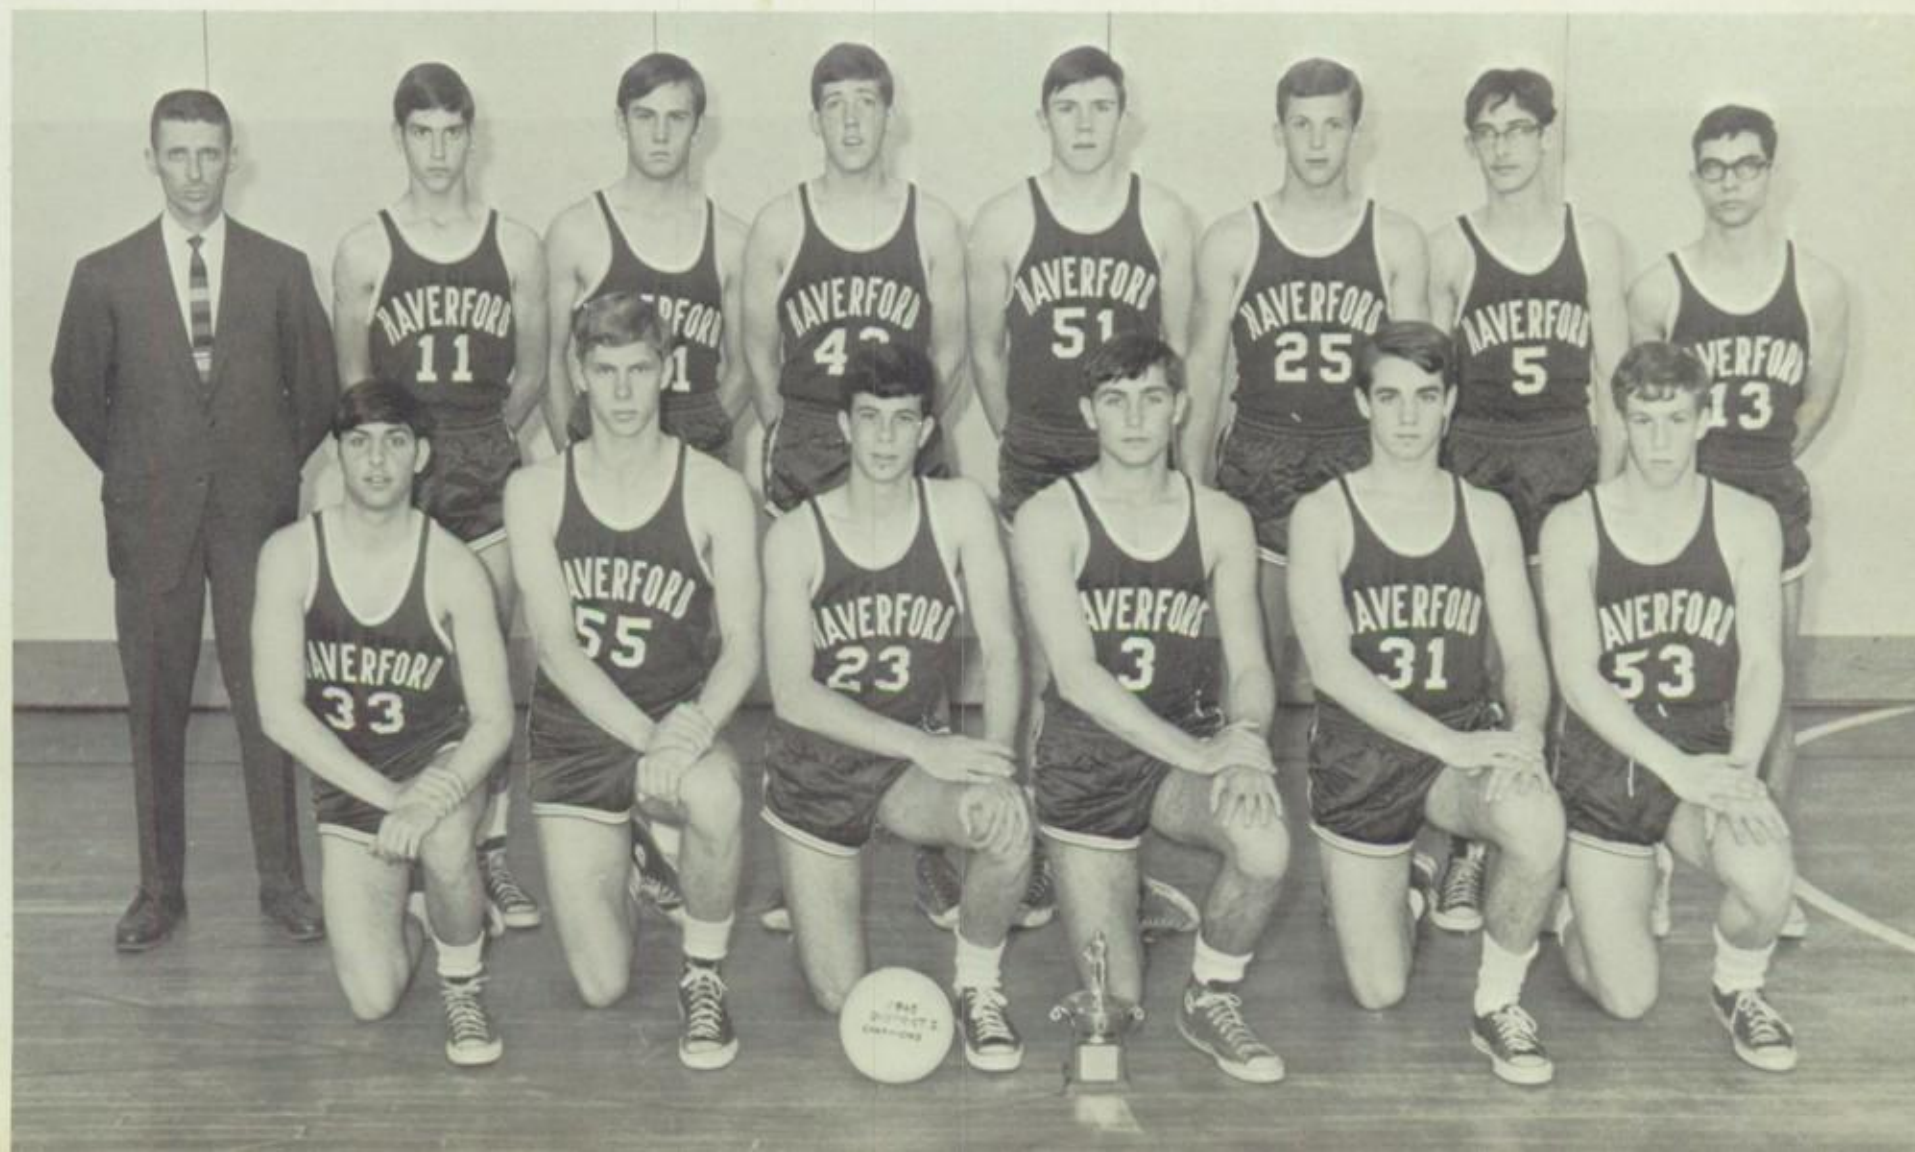

By gaining 15-13 and 15-0 victories over Bucks High School, the team secured its fifth straight District One title and moved its thoughts to the state championships at Penn State. Hoping to make their dreams materialize, the Fords battled opponent after opponent in the nine-hour double-elimination tournament. En route to success, the spikers triumphed over Peabody High (Pittsburgh city champions) 15-0, 16-14; Union Joint of the Pittsburgh area 15-2, 15-4; and East Deer-Frazier 15-8, 15-6. In the first final round, the Fords lost to East Deer-Frazier by 9-15 and 13-15. However, in the second final round the spikers overpowered the same team, 15-11, 15-7.

VARSITY BASEBALL

Whenever Coach John Edelman's squad encountered an opposing team this year, a powerful explosion of hitting and pinpoint pitching ensued. In the first three games of the season alone, the Fords banged out forty runs while allowing only eleven to their opponents.

Bobby Croff and Dave Allen handled most of the mound assignments with superb success. Seniors Ross Duncan, at second base, and Richie Boyd, playing catcher, formed the core of an air-tight defense. Sam Glaser, at first base, Ray Edelman, at short, and Mike Righi, covering third base, combined for stunning defensive plays in the field. Senior Bob Sagolla covered left field, while Val Ermandis and Nick Zantopoulos played center and right field, respectively. Duncan, Boyd, Croff, Sagolla, and Ermandis provided most of the team's offensive punch.

TRACK

With nearly unmatched strength in track events and strong performances in field events, the 1968 track team completed a successful season. Records fell with amazing frequency. Under the guidance of Coaches Christman, Doemling, and Tidball, Haverford exhibited a vast improvement over last year's squad.

The season began with a one-sided victory over Penncrest by a 87-45 score. In following meets with Lower Merion, Harriton, Upper Darby, and Conestoga, the Fords proved themselves a strong league power. Traveling to Springfield, the trackmen faced their toughest competition. When the last lap had been run and the last hurdle cleared, the Fords found themselves on the short end of a heartbreaking 67-65 score.

Individual efforts highlighted the season. In the 100 yard dash, Chip Shearman, Bob Legnini, and Gary Kleiman usually sped to a "one-two-three" finish. Shearman also turned in excellent performances in the 440. With astonishing regularity, Ken Keehn set a new record in the two mile run. Dave Schor established a new school record in the triple jump. Much attention also focused on the pole vaulting competition this year as sophomore Mark Mondschein became Haverford's first vaulter to exceed thirteen feet.

GIRLS' TENNIS

Smashing, lobbing, slicing, chopping, the girls' tennis team, once again hampered by lack of free courts on which to practice, engaged in rivalry with more experienced and well-practiced teams. Miss Keylor's squad exhibited fine control and style, although most contests resulted in defeat for the Red and Gold. In its first three matches on the road, the Haverford team was at a disadvantage from the beginning. But the girls were not to be discouraged, and battled heroically against the keen opposition.

Highlighting the season was a stunning 5-0 triumph over Upper Darby. Suffering serious set-backs in the early stages of the game, the Fordettes still managed to achieve an exciting victory. Top starting players Carol Cohen, Barbara Hersch, and Betsy Fineberg contributed significantly to the over-all success, with Carol staging a spirited comeback after several sets and Betsy emerging victorious hard-fought match.

With at least three experienced players back next year, Haverford looks forward to a brighter, more encouraging season.

Girls Had A Trying Season; Netmen Faced Stiff Competition

BOYS' TENNIS

With talent abundant throughout the league, the 1968 Haverford tennis team often found themselves faced by a host of tough opposing players. Under the direction of Mr. John van Roden, this year's squad built an enthusiastic team around a strong junior-dominated core. In their first encounter of the season, the Fords overpowered visiting Swarthmore, 4-1. However, as the season progressed the level of competition rose. Although the scores may indicate a rather dismal season, the Fords met the challenge of the more experienced teams with admirable determination. Leading the list of starting singles players was Jeff Wernick, followed by Frank Richardson, Joel Luber, and John Foster. All four were underclassmen and should form a strong varsity team again next year. One real strength of Haverford's 1968 squad was in the doubles competition. Seniors Tom Swem and Llew Smith teamed up to menace one opponent after another.

Jeff Wernick bends and turns, picking up an opponent's low serve.

LACROSSE

Completely revamped, the lacrosse team made the scene at Haverford this spring. New players, new positions, and a new outlook generated a fervid enthusiasm among the girls. Launching the season with decisive victories over Marple-Newtown and Lower Merion, the fordettes fell, defeated by one point in a hard-fought game with Conestoga.

The most rewarding victory of the season was the game against Penncrest. Scoring three goals to Penncrest's two, the girls owed much of their success to the very effective defense. Co-captains Sally MacLaren and Robyn Talley, as well as the rest of a powerful defense, did an excellent job of picking up free players and intercepting passes.

Coaches Valerie Walchak and Patricia Holmes spent long afternoons drilling the girls in skills and plays. Miss Walchak's philosophy was one of thinking for yourself. She welcomed comments and criticisms from the team. The girls learned to think for themselves, to make constructive suggestions, and to accept criticism.

Action reaches a climax as Marcia Baldino shoots for the goal.

Lacrosse

Contact and aggressiveness are integral parts of a lacrosse game. The pace is fast, the action exciting. It was this style of play which typified Haverford's 1968 lacrosse team, coached by Mr. John Scott.

In the initial game of the season, the stickmen encountered always-tough Haverford School. Forced to drop back on defense constantly, the squad generated little offensive punch, falling by a 6-0 score. Against Harriton, the Fords were a vastly improved team. With more emphasis on scoring, Haverford managed four goals. Once again the defensive unit was impressive as most of Harriton's four goals came with a one-man advantage. Continuing to search for the right offensive combinations, the Red and Gold traveled to Hill School. Although Hill was outshot, they emerged victorious, 6-1. As the season continued, improvement was sought, but the all-important offensive thrust proved somewhat elusive.

Outstanding on defense were John Janoski, Barry Walker. Goalie Bob DiPuppo was more effective than the scores indicated, as he adeptly stopped a multitude of opponent's shots on goal. Ira Peezick, Rich Grant, and John Barlow supplied most of the offensive scoring power, skillful ball handling, and accurate passing.

Using his well-developed abilities, Chip Miller side steps an on-coming check.

Keglers Captured Championship

BOWLING

Under the guidance of Coach Albert Gwinn, the 1968 bowling team captured the Suburban League championship. Led by captain Lee Swartz, Steve Mann, Chip Bilancia, Howie Strelsin, and Buddy Marucci, the Fords showed a great margin of improvement over last year's fourth place finish. Haverford finished first for the first half of the season but slipped to third place during the latter half of the year. In the playoffs, the kegglers rallied to stomp Springfield by a 2655-2508 score, thus earning the coveted championship.

During the long season, the Fords competed Wednesday afternoons at Gehris Lanes. In that setting, the kegglers set a new league record for a high game total of 973 pins. Steve Mann compiled an unmatched average of 180, gaining for him the highest average in the league.

Buddy Marucci completes his par by sinking a putt.

Joe Marucci's tee shot explodes en route to a birdie.

Golfers Achieved Successful Season

GOLF

Exhibiting excellent control of driver and putter alike, the golf team enjoyed a successful season. Under the leadership of Mr. Al Gwinn, the golfers teed off the season with a 9-6 triumph at Penncrest. Hoping to improve over last year's excellent record, the golfers launched their home season at the famous Merion West course by whipping Lower Merion also by a 9-6 score. In their next match, the golfers met perennial power Harriton. Although the Ford drives fell short, the determined team quickly resumed their winning ways as they completely outshot their opponent, Ridley, 12-3. A tough match with traditional rival Upper Darby resulted in a tie. After falling victim to the Tigers of Marple Newtown, the Fords rebounded to smash Conestoga, 11½-3½.

Joe Marucci, Pete Zombori, Buddy Marucci, Bob Brown, and John Abrams supplied most of the power and control on the team this year, but the talent was plentiful and competition was fierce.

Expanded Intramurals Encouraged Competitive Spirit

INTRAMURALS

Intramural sports attracted a vast number of Haverford students this year. Under the direction of Mr. McGarvey, the expanded fields of competition encompassed football, cross country, bowling, basketball, and softball. The number of participants in these events indicated the enthusiasm which accompanied the high degree of competition.

In the fall, touch football teams rivaled one another in the afternoon contests. By the end of the season, I.L.S. had become the champion of the league. Individual competition reached a peak with the cross country championship race.

With the arrival of winter, eighteen teams took to the basketball courts. This year, the games were played at night in the gymnasium. In the championship basketball game, which climaxed the season, Tufts defeated Hiram Scott by a score of 32-24. Also during the winter months, the intramural bowling league got into full swing with afternoon contests at local lanes.

Intramural competition concluded with the completion of the softball schedule.

Exhausted at the finish, Dave White-man wins cross country championship.

CHEERLEADERS

Pretty, energetic, effervescent—the 1967-68 cheerleaders were all three. Spurring on spirited crowds during tense moments, this lively ten-sister sorority enjoyed a year crowned with excitement and success.

This year's squad fully appreciated the tremendous opportunity they had in cheering throughout one of Haverford's most exciting football seasons. Starting what hopefully will become a tradition in the coming years, every pre-game night the girls went "spiriting." Each girl was assigned several players for whom she made signs with candy bars attached. The girls placed the signs on the players' front doors.

Sue McGarvey, this year's captain, and several other girls on the squad attended cheerleading camp last summer. Sue and Co-captain Amy Groverman introduced many new cheers and provided a side-show of acrobatics at the basketball games.

The four underclassmen on the team this year should provide a good foundation for next year's squad. The jayvee squad, in its third year, did an excellent job of supporting our jayvee teams.

SOCIAL LIFE

Enjoying a year of varied recreation which was really "something else," students discovered another world in the exciting social activities provided for and by them this year. The all school show, class plays, and dances gave all three classes a chance to relax after strenuous hours of studies. Whether dancing till dawn at the prom or flying through the twentieth century at the all school show, students found diversion and entertainment in a well-rounded program of recreation.

YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU

SENIOR PLAY

Under the direction of H. Robert Shissler, Betsy Fineberg and Rich Flounders headed an enthusiastic cast in the senior class production of the light-hearted comedy and Pulitzer Prize winning play You Can't Take It With You.

The animated audiences were kept laughing by the antics of the easy-going Sycamore household. Daughter Alice, however, was less amused. She was ashamed of her family's casual manner when the wealthy young businessman Tony Kirby called upon her at home. Her attempts to make them seem like a quiet, "normal" family precipitated a hilarious and memorable chain of events. The atmosphere became more solemn as the difference between the social status of the two families became more apparent. Grandfather Martin Vanderhof, though, saved the day and the marriage by helping the stuffy, money-minded Mr. Kirby see that there is more to happiness than the almighty dollar. After all, You Can't Take It With You.

Talent Show Was Something Else

Introducing an approach far different from that used in previous years, senior Ray Benedetto and co-directors Debbie Sugg, Chuck Taggart, Tim Richards, and Gene Davis organized and directed this year's All School Show, appropriately entitled "Something Else." Tracing the development of popular music through the twentieth century, the acts conveyed the mood of each decade through the clever use of sets of music. The show opened with a comedy skit followed by a series of patriotic songs performed by the Crispy Minstrels. The honky-tonk atmosphere of a speak-easy characterized the roaring twenties, while the Haverford Dance Band introduced the turbulent thirties, bringing alive the pre-war era through the glamour of the Waldorf Astoria Hotel. Emcees Edna Goldstein and Dan Dillman set a lively pace as they propelled the audience from a forties soda shop through the American Bandstand of the fifties to a discotheque of the psyched sixties. A grand finale of the entire cast singing "The 59th Street Bridge Song" provided an appropriate closing number of a great show.

Set Precedent

JUNIOR DINNER DANCE

Replacing the traditional junior prom, a dinner dance was held by the class of 1968 at the luxurious Falcon House.

Couples began arriving at 8:30. A succulent dinner of chicken, peas, potato boat, and ice cream cake was served at 9:00, allowing ample time later for dancing to the melodies provided by the Versatones. At 11:00, the one-year reign of Cheryl Donato ended with the crowning of Gine Vautier. Attending the Queen were members of the Court: Sarah Warren, Betty Lulias, Chris Kraetzer, and Mary Pizzillo.

Couples not wishing to dance either visited the coke bar that stayed open all night or watched from the balcony as their friends swayed to the soft, flowing music. Invited parents rounded out the number of those in attendance.

As couples dispersed at 1:30 and headed for home, they took with them the memories of a wonderful and fun-filled evening.

The gay spirit of the dance shines on the faces of these juniors as they enjoy their meal.

While dining, chaperones discuss current trends in teenage dancing.

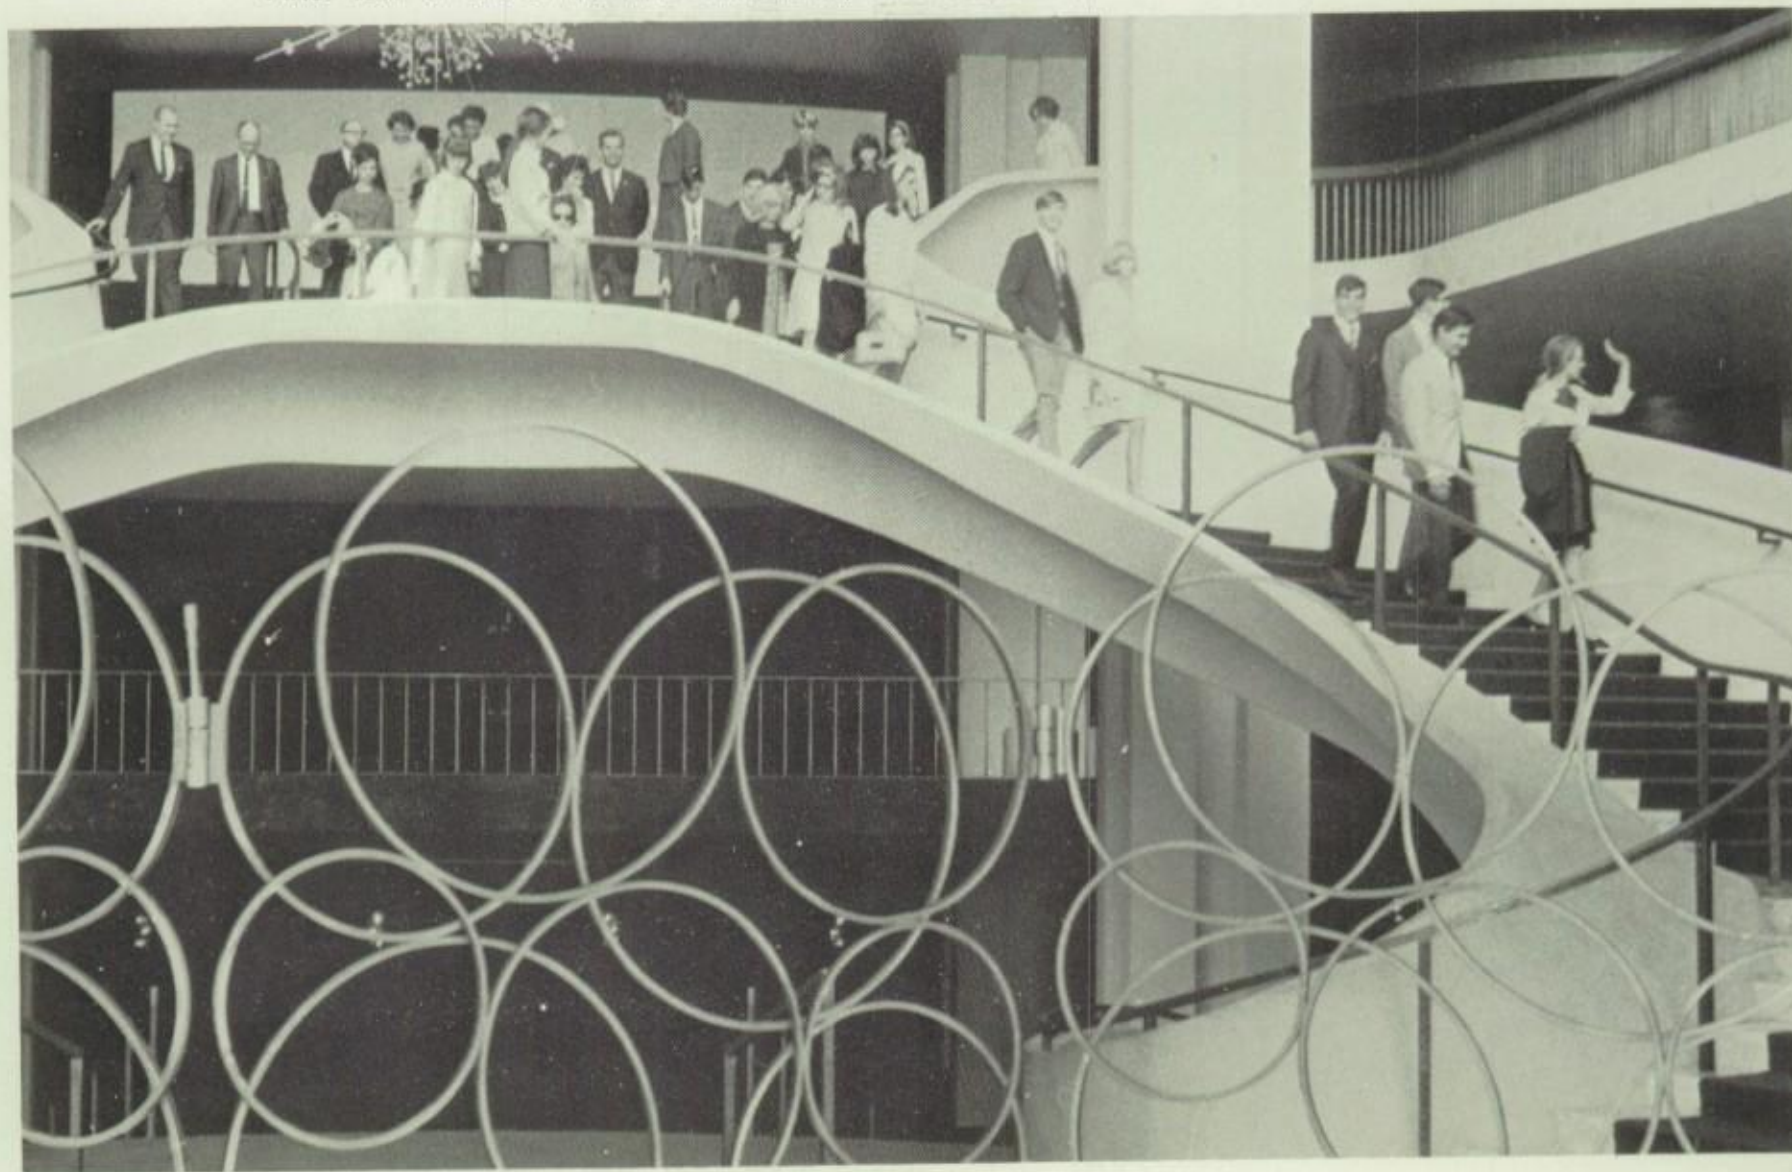

On way to concert hall, one of the five groups files past water display.

Class Of '68 Invaded NYC May 10, 1967

Under the experienced guidance of Talmage Tours, approximately 350 members of class of '68 enjoyed the sights of the "big city" during their class trip last May.

The first stop of their "whirlwind" stay in New York was Lincoln Center. Here students toured the Philharmonic Hall, the New York State Theatre, and the new Metropolitan Opera. After leisurely lunches at the restaurants of their choice, tourists enjoyed a matinee performance of Hello Dolly, starring Martha Raye, from the rear mezzanine of the St. James Theatre. Emerging from the show at 5:66 p.m., the Fords were transported by bus through rush hour traffic to Greenwich Village, with the Village Barn and a chopped beef dinner as the ultimate goal. The class returned home late in the evening to prepare for school the next day.

Camelot Enchanted Seniors

Highlighting the social calendar of the class of 1968 was the senior prom, held on April 6. This year over 300 couples crossed the draw-bridge to enjoy an evening of entertainment in the enchanted land of Camelot. A romantic castle, brightly colored flowers, and a cascade of streamers transformed the gymnasium into an elegant wonderland. Music was provided by George Young and his orchestra.

Those responsible for Camelot's success were the chairmen: Craig Basile, Chaperones; Beth Creighton, Decorations; Jim Murphy, Entertainment; Diane Squaresky, Invitations; Ann Goldman, Keys and Programs; and Cathy Cram, Publicity.

Post-prom festivities were part of the evening for most couples. Held at the Alpine Inn, the all-night party included a roast beef dinner and music by the Vibrations. At 5:00 a.m. came the conclusion of the long but memory-filled event.

Expectant couples flow in as the prom begins to take shape.

Guests take time out from the festivities to relax.

Nearly exhausted by this time, seniors dance to the great music of the Vibrations at the post prom.

Students Sprinkled Stage With STARDUST

STARDUST

Is it possible that on the nights of January 26 and 27 some members of the junior class were transformed into sliced oranges, centipedes, broken teapots and frustrated fishing poles?! In the play Stardust, by Walter Kerr, the class of '69 proved most anything's possible.

The actual plot centered upon the visit of the famous New York actress Prudence Mason ((Barbara Fyfe) to a university drama school. Her adventures and misadventures with the monaced Mr. Bach (Bob Meyers) and his pie-eyed proteges developed a story rich in satire and subtle humor epitomized by the barbed wit of Miss Mason's chaperone, Claire Carter (Connie Tyler).

Under the student direction of Michelle Marchesano and sponsored by Miss Beth Worthington, this three act comedy revealed both the skill of a professional playwright and the talents of an enthusiastic cast.

COMMITMENT

UNDERCLASSMEN

Involvement and enthusiasm characterized the approach of underclassmen to the past year. Willing to introduce original and untried projects for the student body, they initiated the ideas of a car wash and rock show while continuing the infant tradition of a sophomore social and class trip and the more established traditions of a junior play and dinner-dance. With two classes that so enjoy and fulfill their commitments, Haverford can look forward to '68-'69 as an active and rewarding year.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

On the sixth of September eager sophomores made their way to the senior high for the first time. They spent the first days of their new career adapting to the Haverford microcosm. Once adjusted, the industrious sophs were already looking to the future and their senior dues.

The students' first fun-raising endeavor was the sale of zip code directories. Later in the term a carwash was held.

A day in New York highlighted the year. The sophomores had a full morning of sightseeing and in the afternoon had a choice of seeing Hello Dolly, Man of La Mancha, or Fiddler on the Roof. They remained in New York for dinner before returning that evening.

The class was very busy socially during the term. The traditional Christmas Ball, held in December, was their first class sponsored function. Later in the school year they had their February social. The new idea of having a sophomore play was also discussed.

Looking into the future, the class of '70 anticipates a full and active junior year.

Officers Directed Transitional Year

JUNIOR CLASS

Slavery reestablished? Yes! . . . at least it was for one day last year. Members of the Class of '69 hired themselves out as slaves for a day in a class fun(d)-raising effort. Continuing their activities in 66-67, they sponsored the Christmas Ball and the first affair just for sophomores, the Cabaret. To this social, sophomores and their dates came in a wide variety of clothes, there being few dress restrictions. Rounding out that year of work and fun, the sophs took a trip to New York, where they saw either The Impossible Years, Funny Girl, or The Man of LaMancha, depending upon their preference.

This year, as juniors, the class of '69 again revived slavery on the one-day basis. To make money in a more orthodox fashion, they put on a play, Stardust. It was a comedy spoofing method-acting. To relax after the College Boards, juniors attended a dinner dance in May at White Manor Country Club. For more fun, and money, they also held a car wash and Rock Show.

Under the direction of Mr. Shafer, the junior executive committee evolves class policies.

SENIORS

It has been said that "you can't take it with you." The Class of '68 realized this fact, but saw no reason why the school couldn't be left in even better shape than they found it. Not relying on the accomplishments of past classes, seniors strove to better the school's policy by ushering in a leadership seminar and training sophomore ushers. Initiating other improvements and accomplishing even greater feats in sports and student productions, the Class of '68 left behind a high standard of achievement for future classes to follow.

ACHIEVEMENT

President Jim Murphy conducts class meeting assisted by Vice-President Ray Benedetto, Secretary Jim Robins, and Treasurer Pete Tracanna.

*Dear Harry (my first love) one question what's your secret? I don't think I'll ever forget our classes with the silver fox.
Also, I'll never forget our deep, passionate love affair in 7th grade.
Best of luck in Penn State this year + summer!!
Love
always,
Shelly*

Successful Year

Homeward-bound students active in extra-curricular life walk the hallway for the last time today.

New vice-principal Melvin Drukin and class advisor Doc Harter iron out pressing details of senior trip.

Breakfasting in Havertown, lunching in New York, and dining in New Jersey, 294 seniors found May 1 one of the busiest and bus-iest days of their lives. Congregating at the school at 7:35 a.m., the group initiated the trip with a three-hour bus journey and a ferry-ride across New York harbor. Upperclassmen enjoyed lunches at various restaurants and at 2:00 p.m. reported to their respective theatres where they saw either Man of LaMancha, How Now, Dow Jones, or I Do, I Do. The descent of the curtain signalled the departure of the class for the Latin Casino. Feasting on turkey, peas and potatoes, Fords enjoyed a variety of entertainment provided by the Latin's stage-show. Comedian Larry Wilde (Who?) and a top dance-band provided an unexpected prelude for eager seniors. With the appearance of the fabulous Supremes, Fords experienced a half-hour of rock and showmanship at its best. At 10:00 p.m., the group headed home, happy in memories of a wonderful, wonderful day.

Big Town Beckoned Seniors

Center: The Statue of Liberty holds the attention of young and old alike.
